

Dr. Christoph Ganss M.D. (*1964)

Dr. Ganss is a committed physician and entrepreneur. He has several years of experience in the surgical field. Among others, Dr. Ganss has outstanding knowledge in the field of heart and thorax surgery, vascular surgery and traumatology. He has obtained his well-grounded knowledge and the current state of the latest medical scientific proficiency in Germany and abroad.

As he himself comes from a family of entrepreneurs, Dr. Ganss was fascinated by the interaction between science and entrepreneurship already very early on in his life. He therefore founded TICEBA GmbH in the technology park in Heidelberg, Germany, in 2003 – the first tissue bank for stem cells of the skin worldwide. The company commenced business operations on the 1st of March 2005 and has gained a good reputation in the meantime. Dr. Ganss is committed to ethical principles.
